

Mr. Fox and Mr. Skunk are eating breakfast. The telephone rings. It is Mr. Crow, the mailman. "Hi," says Mr. Crow. "I have a big package here for Mr. Skunk. Where should I deliver it?"

"Oh, boy!" says Mr. Skunk. "That must be my birthday package from my grandmother!"

"Tell him to deliver it to the red house on the river bank," says Mr. Fox. "Then we can have a party!" But when Mr. Crow brings the package, he delivers it to the red house on the other side of the river.

"You and your directions!" shouts Mr. Skunk to Mr. Fox.

"You told him!" shouts Mr. Fox to Mr. Skunk.

"Wait - I have an idea," says Mr. Skunk, and he picks up his pencil.
